Elopers Tell and Belated Wedding Presents Pour In

Miss O'Loughlin and C. K. Robinson, Football Star, Slip Away From Jersey Party in Borrowed Car

A belated shower of wedding gifts descended on the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. O'Loughlin in East Orange, N. J., yesterday following announcement of the elopement and marriage Saturday night of Miss Geraldine O'Loughlin and Charles Knox Robinson, of Avon-by-the-Sea. They stole a march on relatives and friends during a Saturday night party at the O'Loughlin home.

The marriage took place in Hanover Presbyterian Church at Hanover, N. J. While fifty guests were being entertained by the O'Loughlins Robinson borrowed the O'Loughlin car and took his fiancée for a ride. Once away from the house he informed her that he had obtained a marriage license and urged her to consent to an immediate wedding. The Rev. E. E. Howard, pastor of the Hanover Presbyterian Church, was supervising their practice when requested by Robinson to officiate. He consented and fifteen minutes later Mr. and Mrs. Robinson departed to the music of a full choir.

The bride and bridegroom returned to the O'Loughlin home and no announcement was made of the wedding until yesterday when Mrs. Robinson confided in her mother. News of the marriage was issued by Mrs. O'Loughlin, who added that the elopers had been forgiven.

The marriage resulted from a romantic attachment formed in the autumn of 1919 at a football game between Blair Institute, of Hightstown, N. J., and the O'Loughlin High School. C. K. Robinson was a member of the Blair team. He became engaged to Miss O'Loughlin two years ago and announced his intention to marry her last week.

Both families are wealthy.
